MICRO LEARN
INHERIT THE FUTURE

Date: 7/1/2026

To Whom it May Concern,

I am writing to highly recommend Mr. Yazan Adnan Nazzal, based on his commendable performance at eMicrolearn. Mr. Yazan demonstrated exceptional dedication and technical proficiency throughout his employment with our company from March 2022 to November 2025, contributing significantly to the development of digital educational solutions, school curricula, and software applications.

In his role at the eMicrolearn Project, Yazan was actively involved in both educational content development and software programming. He contributed to the development, enhancement, and maintenance of several platform features, participated in implementing new functionalities, assisted in debugging and troubleshooting technical issues, and supported the integration of educational content into our digital learning platform. He also collaborated with the technical team to improve system performance, user experience, and application reliability.

Yazan consistently demonstrated a remarkable sense of responsibility, executing his duties with minimal supervision while effectively managing multiple assignments. His strong analytical thinking, problem-solving abilities, and willingness to learn enabled him to quickly adapt to new technologies and development requirements. He worked collaboratively with project managers, curriculum specialists, designers, and fellow developers, ensuring that project objectives were met within the required timelines.

Throughout his time at eMicrolearn, Yazan displayed solid programming knowledge and practical experience in software development, database interaction, system testing, and quality assurance. His attention to detail, logical approach to solving technical challenges, and commitment to writing efficient, maintainable code made him a valuable member of our development team. In addition, his high level of computer literacy and excellent communication skills contributed significantly to the success of multidisciplinary projects.

It is with great pleasure that I offer myself as a reference for Mr. Yazan. Should you require any further information regarding his professional capabilities, technical skills, or contributions to our organization, please do not hesitate to contact me. I would be pleased to elaborate on the positive impact he made during his employment at eMicrolearn.

Thank you for considering my recommendation. I have every confidence that Mr. Yazan will continue to excel in his professional career and become a valuable asset to any organization fortunate enough to have him.

Sincerely,

Tahani Sbeahat
Operational and Finance Director
